"Next to the sense of religious duty and moral feeling, I hardly know what should bear with stronger obligations on a liberal and enlightened mind, than a consciousness of alliance with a liberal excellence which is departed; and a consciousness too, that in its acts and conduct, and even in its sentiments and thoughts, it may be actively operating on the happiness of those who come after it."

DANIEL WEBSTER.

WORCESTER, MASS., August 27th, 1880.

The foregoing brief Genealogical History of one branch of the "Dodge Family" has been prepared after much labor and research, and is submitted with the hope that it will stimulate the various members of the general family in collecting all facts and information within their knowledge or reach to be transmitted to the undersigned, who will see that the same is duly forwarded to the Publishing Committee appointed at the meeting of the "Dodge Family," in Salem, Massachusetts, July 10th, 1879; and which Committee, as I am informed, are engaged in preparing a full and complete history of the "Dodge Family." In conclusion, I will suggest that all members of the family collect and compile in suitable form for preservation, not only the names, dates of birth, marriages and deaths, but full particulars as to professions, avocations, &c., so that in the future such facts and incidents can be published, and thus preserved for the perusal and instruction of the succeeding generations of the family to which we belong.

Respectfully submitted.

THOS. DODGE.
